

Мой выпуск из МЭИ

Time flies...

It's really true. Six years ago I entered my University and now I graduated. A lot of things happened at that time. The most of them remind me about happy moments of my life only. But I can't say that I had no difficulties while I was studying. Of course I had. And I think that it's absolutely normal. What the difficulties were? I'll tell you about them.

It's not a secret that the most difficult period of studies is the first two years. I can say about it without any doubts. But in first let me tell you a little bit about my University entrance.

When I studied at the 10th grade of school I decided to become an engineer. I think that it's pretty important for a man to have a technical education as his first one. It's just my opinion. The next question I asked myself was «What kind of an engineer I'd like to be?». I didn't think about it too much. My parents are power-engineers. They encouraged me to choose this field. And it went without saying that I was going to study at MPEI (Moscow Power Engineering University).

Studying at school I was visiting pre-entry courses of the University. They helped me a lot, because each school leaver who attended the courses had a chance to enter the University taking special exams. So if you want to enter MPEI keep that in mind.

I passed the exams very well and entered MPEI in May. It was pretty funny, because I didn't take my final exams at school yet, but already entered University. So I didn't worry about my USE results. But anyway I had good ones.

I can't say how happy I was when I entered MPEI, its IPEE department to be exact. It was not easy at all. But I understood that to study in was much more difficult.

As I said before the first two years were the hardest ones. To tell you the truth I did not so good. I was more interested in hanging out with my group mates. What's more, after the second course I had two failed exams and was about to finish my studies. But fortunately I repeated the exams and carried on my way. It was the hardest period for me. And believe it or not after that I started to study very well. On the third year and then I studied even without satisfied marks. I can say that the first two courses of University were not so interesting because off common subjects only. The third year and others were very interesting to study. We started to study specialized subjects.

So in four years I got the bechelor's degree. Then we could choose whether we become an engineers or we do Masters. I chose the second one. A half of my group mates did the same. I don't even know why we decided to do Masters. The most common opinion was to get as much as possible from the University.

My research work's defence.

Our defence of research works was very good. I did the last, the 9th. The teachers were very loyal to everyone. Actually, our department (EHT) is the best one. I'm grateful to all the teachers so much. They are really great people and they've done a lot for us.

I got excellent mark for my work. After that we got presents to our teachers and went to a pub to celebrate.

My graduation.

On the 4th of July 2014 I graduated from Moscow Power Engineering University with my Master's degree. The ceremony was cool. There were all the students and teachers of our department. Forty one students of ninety got the red diplomas. Not bad, isn't it? I got a common one.

So that's it. I'm very happy about my graduation. These six years were the time of my life. I got a great experience and met very good people. The most of them became my friends!
