

Beautiful Russian and simple English.

What do we mean by saying «a beautiful language»? Each nation thinks of course, that their language is the most beautiful and pleasant for ears. It's wrong to think like that. Each language has its advantages. Needless to say, that for everyone their mother language looks like the most beautiful and clear, because they know it very well.

The most informative and laconic language is Latin. Italian and French sound very nice, but they're nothing in comparison with the language of bushmen, sounding like a pleasant melody.

Russian is great and wonderful.

Russian is a language with a huge vocabulary, which let us describe any event, thing or emotion in the most accurate way. Yes, we have something to be proud of. Russian is not only the most difficult language, but also the most flexible one. Russian is in particular good, because it can express the whole beauty of the Russian soul. Our writers are well-known as the example of the most wonderful and simple expression of thoughts by using of the wide Russian vocabulary.

Yes, Russian is one of the most difficult languages in the World. Our grammar rules are very hard and, what's more, they have many exception words. Our cases are really complicated for foreigners. The most languages don't even have such a definition as «cases». Summing up, we can say, that Russian just can't be beautiful, because of all its difficult points.

English is clear and simple.

If we call Russian hard and beautiful, English is the most simple and clear language. For instance, let's just play with the phrase «моя собака». In Russian, we have many changeable endings (моя, моей, своя, мою), whereas English has the only and simple variant - «My dog». It has no endings and other difficulties. English doesn't have the most sophisticated thing of Russian – declensions and verb conjugations. The most important thing is to understand, that English also has only three main tenses and all the rest are simply their varieties.

We can call English simple and beautiful also because this language is definitely the World one. More and more people learn and speak it all over the World. Some people, who's never even studied English, can understand some simple words and phrases anyway. More over, some easy and popular vocabulary is widely used in the Russian speech.